BEAT OUT THE GOVERNMENT

VARIOUS HAWAII SUGAR PLANTATIONS WIN ON APPEAL OF TAX ASSESSOR.

Various Hawaii plantations won out before the Supreme Court today. The court in an opinion written by Justice Wilder, sustained the tax appeal board and decided against the appeals against the Lapaohoe Sugar Company, Union Mill Company, Waiwale Mill Company and Hamakua Mill Company. The decision relates to the income taxes of the various corporations.

The opinion holds that under the income tax law, as amended by Act 87, laws of 1905, the income of certain plantation corporations for the period between July 1, 1905 and January 1, 1906 is the difference between the gross amount of sale of movable property during that period, less the amount expended in the production of the same. The opinion overrules the appeals brought by the tax assessor from the decision of the tax appeal court for the first taxation division. The tax assessor contended that the income was the gross amount of the actual operating and business expenses for that period.

TRYING TO RAISE A MORTGAGE CLOUD

What is thought to be a "friendly" suit was filed this morning for the Territory of Hawaii, by Attorney General E. C. Peters, against the trustees of the Bishop Estate, for the purpose of removing a cloud on the title of some government property. The land in question is the Queen Emma property on Nuuanu valley over the disposition of which such a controversy was waged some months ago. There is included in the land $ 92-100 acres.

According to the bill in equity, John Young, known as Keoni Ana, one of the early history makers of these islands,

Through the death of Leleiohoku this mortgage and various other interests passed to the Princess Ruth and through her the Bishop Estate obtained title to the mortgage. It is held that the claim through the mortgage is outlawed, in addition to the fact of it having been paid up within the time specified. The Territory is desirous of having the cloud on the title removed and has brought the present action.
